REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD

For the Year Ending March 1, 1891.

To the District and Town of Chesterfield:

In presenting the fifth annual report to the district, we are enabled to announce a good degree of advancement in nearly all the schools. The attendance has been better than it was the previous year, and still the facts show that the stay-at-homes have reduced the total of daily attendance to sixty-four per cent. of the whole number of registered pupils. The number of children attending our schools has been constantly decreasing.

In 1861 there were 349 pupils in the 16 schools conducted in the several districts, giving an average of nearly twenty-two per school. In 1881 the number of scholars in town had diminished to 239 in the fifteen schools, an average of about sixteen to each.

By reference to the accompanying statistical table (No. 1), it will be seen that the number of pupils registered in the several schools the past year has fallen to 163, or an average of a fraction more than twenty-three to each of the seven schools; whilst the average number belonging to the schools has been 117, and the average attendance 107, or about fifteen to a school. The decline is lamentable, but where it will stop depends ——— .

The furnishing of free text books and supplies for all the pupils has considerably augmented the labors of teachers and School Board, and doubtless the scholars have been better supplied with all needed books than they would have been had they depended on the sources previously existing; but it remains to be proved if the new is an improvement upon the old.

In many things ownership increases our interest and enhances the value we place upon them. Why not books? And should not children have them at their homes when the schools are not in session, and use them so as to advance rather than retrograde in their studies?

By the Selectmen's report of April 1, 1890, there were 134 children in town between the ages of five and fifteen.

The schools in the eastern section of the district have moved with little jar or friction. Not a complaint has been received by your Board during the year from pupils, parents or teachers. The same teachers have taught their schools throughout the year, and in No. 7 and grammar No. 13 the teachers have been engaged in their respective schools two full years.

In all of the schools the teachers have made teaching their business, employed approved methods, maintained good discipline, and most creditably advanced their pupils.

Mr. F. E. Benjamin of the grammar school placed a nice wall clock in his school-room, and upon severing his connection with the school at the close of the last term, presented the clock to be kept in that school; for which, in behalf of all interested and benefitted, the Board would tender profoundest thanks to the donor. The School Board feel it a duty to call the attention of parents to the fact that so many assemblies are held in the winter season, and the attendance on them by the adult scholars makes a large share of the absences, and retards the interest and progress of the scholars attending.

School No. 1.

Summer term—Taught by Miss Clara M. Stoddard; a good teacher—has the faculty to instruct—to present what she knows in such a way that the young can see and understand. The advancement was good.

Fall term—Taught by Miss Minnie E. Clark. A lady of fine qualities. Her whole strength went out with her ideas of ways and methods of instruction. She was taken sick and gave up the school. Mr. W. S. Coombs, a graduate of Thetford Academy, Vt., closed the term.

Winter term—Taught by Wm. S. Coombs. A thorough teacher and disciplinarian. The absence marks in this school tell against the advancement materially as a whole.

School No. 5.

Summer and Fall terms—Taught by G. B. Frost, thorough in instruction, and a successful teacher.

Winter term—H. E. Coombs of Dartmouth College was the teacher. A successful school. The advancement in this school for the three years past has been very marked. Three of the scholars have become good teachers.

School No. 9.

Summer term—Taught by Miss Clara E. Smith, a very successful teacher in this school.

Fall term—Taught by Miss Ruth Hawks of Greenfield, Mass. She sent excellent credentials of qualifications, and was a very bright scholar. Most of the classes made good progress, but some of the patrons were dissatisfied.

Winter term—Taught by Miss Agnes E. Harvey. A fine scholar, her first term as teacher. A very successful school. In this school we have a few of the best scholars of their ages in town. One family of scholars in particular ought to be recorded for a precedent, have attended school three years, (88 3-5 weeks), not tardy and only two days' absence, and one of those caused by the conveyance not going—a very bad day. Would it not be Eutopia land, indeed, if we could say as much of all the patrons? All can draw their own conclusions.

School No. 10.

Summer term—Taught by Miss Ella M. McClenning; well qualified to teach this school. A little more ambition and desire for work on the part of the teacher would have gone a long ways toward the making of a first-class school.

Fall term—Taught by Miss Edith E. Emerson, of Brattleboro. Too much credit and praise cannot be given this teacher for the care and anxious forethought for every recitation each day. The scholars showed thoroughness in all studies gone over.

Winter term—Taught by Miss Dora J. Farr. A very successful school. The same credit given Miss Emerson applies with equal force to Miss Farr.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN F. BUTLER,
TIMOTHY N. ROBERTSON,
HERMON C. HARVEY,
School Board.
